1. Take a minute to read this page.

We are sorry to hear that your dog or cat may need an amputation, or perhaps is now recovering from surgery. But we are glad you found us! Please know that everyone who joins Tripawds understands exactly what you're going through.

For now, please read on to learn how to connect with our community and use this site.

A screenshot of the Tripawds website's registration form. The form is titled "Get your own Tripawds account in seconds" and features the Tripawds logo at the top left. It includes a "Username:" field with a note "(Must be at least 4 characters, letters and numbers only.)", an "Email Address:" field with a note "We send your registration email to this address. (Double-check your email address before continuing.)", and a "Your Avatar" section with a small image of a paw print.

2. Register for your free account.

Registered Tripawds users take advantage of many free member benefits. Sign up for your free account now. We'll wait... Good, now that you have logged in with your username, you can:

✓ Post in the Forums

Anyone can post in the discussion forums! Registered members, however, will not need to have their posts approved. Members can also complete a user profile, and use Private Messaging to communicate directly with other members.

✓ Join the Live Chat

Registration is required to join the Tripawds Live Chat room, where members are often waiting to greet newcomers. Pop in and stay a while to ask questions and make new friends!

✔ Create a Free Blog

Download the Tripawds e-books Three Legs & a Spare and Loving Life on Three Legs for fast recovery and care tips!

The banner features two e-book covers on the left. The first cover is titled 'Three Legs & a Spare' and the second is 'Loving Life on Three Legs'. Both covers show a dog and the Tripawds logo. The text to the right of the covers is in a bold, red font, with the book titles underlined.

3. Get familiar with this website.

Tripawds has a wealth of information to offer. In fact one of the only complaints we receive is that there is too much information. Take just two minutes to watch this video describing the site's primary features.

And that's just the beginning!

Like we said, this site has much more to offer than the blogs, forums and chat...

Tripawds is a network of blogs, not just one website. You are currently viewing the main site.

Use the navigation menu in the yellow band across the top of every page to easily find the many other resources the Tripawds network has to offer:

4. Bookmark the reading list.

One of the best places to start here is by reviewing and bookmarking Jerry’s Required Reading List. Do that now, we’ll wait... This ever-growing list includes links to many of the best blog posts, forum topics, veterinarian interviews, videos and podcasts in Tripawds history.

The image shows a search interface with a search bar containing the text "osteosarcoma supplements" and a "Search" button. To the right, there is a "New / Updated T" button. Below the search bar is an "Advanced Search" section. Under "Advanced Search", there is a "Search" label. Below this, there are two columns of options. The first column is labeled "Forum Scope" and has a checked checkbox for "All forums". The second column is labeled "Match" and has three options: "Match any word" (unchecked), "Match all words" (checked), and "Match phrase" (unchecked). At the bottom of the search interface, there is a grey bar with the text "Search results for 'osteosarcoma supplements' (207)".

5. Search the blogs and forums.

If you have questions—and we’re sure you do—they have likely been answered in the Tri-pawds Discussion Forums. The forums are this community’s most popular, and most helpful resource.

- ➡ First, take a moment to search the thousands of topics for any specific concerns.
- ➡ Next, pick a forum and start a new topic. Introduce yourself, tell us about your dog or cat. Oftentimes you will receive replies from members within minutes.

Remember, Tripawds hosts five featured blogs and 1,000+ member blogs too! Many members share their success stories, treatment plans, helpful recommendations and more. You can search all blogs here.

9. Support your Tripawds community!

The free Tripawds blogs, forums, live chat and many other resources cost money to maintain. It's only made possible through generous Tripawds Supporters and our charitable organization, the Tripawds Foundation—a 501c3 public charity formed with the mission to help amputee pets and their people everywhere.

If you find this site helpful, there are various ways to Support Tripawds! Or, make a charitable contribution to help keep this community online, and we'll pay tribute to your three legged hero or angel on the Tripawds Honor Roll.

10. Pay it forward.

Now that you are an expert in all things Tripawd, tell your vets, friends and family! Use the sharing buttons below to help spread the word about everything this community has to offer.

Send your vet Free Tripawds Brochures to help other concerned pet parents facing amputation for their dogs and cats.

Then, name your price for a dog bandanna and check out our custom pet-centric jewelry or visit the Tripawds Gift Shop for t-shirts, hoodies, and all sorts of gifts with three legged dog and cat designs.

Let's all show the world that Tripawds Rule!
